Forest Fire Fighter Dies in Death Trap

The forest fire at Chalk Bluff yesterday, to which the National Forest Service sent 140 men and the state camp just outside this city, 18 men, resulted in the first fire fatality of this season.

George Dewey Nicholson, of this city, was burned to death. He was thirty-eight year old, the son of Mrs. Louisa Nicholson, was born here and had resided here all his life.

The remains are at the Holmes-Hooper Funeral Home. An inquest will be held this evening at eight o'clock by Coroner Holmes in Grass Valley.

George Howe, assistent to William Sharp, State Fire Warden, in charge of the men from the state camp, also came perilously near losing his life and is now at the Jones Memorial hospital in Grass Valley in a critical condition.

Chalk Bluff, the site of hydraulic operations in early days, rises abruptly from a small canyon. A change in the wind turned the course of the flames up this small canyon, which was filled with second growth timber. The men were hemmed in on all sides by the raging inferno of flames and utterly unable to climb the steep bank.

Besides his mother Georoge Nicholson is survived by several brothers and sisters, among them Henry Nicholson, a sheriff in one of Nevada state's counties, and Alfred Nicholson of this city.

The fire at Chalk Bluff was brought under control early last evening. About four hundred acres were burned over according to the report of Fire Warden Sharp.

Superintendent R. L. P. Bigelow feels that emphasis should be stressed on the fact that the fire was of incendiary origin. It caused the death of a good man and the serious injury to another. The incendiary is always potentially a murderer.

The fire started in the old diggings near Chalk Bluff and covered 250 acres of privately owned land and crossed the Brady ranch at You Bet, but all the buildings were saved.

FIRES FLARE AT COLUMBIA HILL

At two o'clock the word was phoned to the Tahoe National Forest headquarters in Nevada City that three fires had just started near Columbia Hill flaring up one after the other in quick succession as if they had been set by an incendiary.

Superintendent R. L. P. Bigelow took charge at once and men are being dispatched to care for the new outbreak.

SCHOOL BELL RINGS AGAIN AT COLUMBIA HILL

For the first time in ten years the school bell at Columbia Hill is ringing. Ringing in the same old school house and with the same call to youth as of yore. This time it is calling about ten pupils but in the old days the presiding pedagogue reigned over 60 or 70 youngsters ranging in years from five to nineteen. Some of them who so nimbly danced to the rythmn of the hickory stick are among our most prominent citizens, and many a tale there is to be gleaned if you can get them in a reminiscent mood. Among our notables who have attended the Columbia Hill school are: George Calanan, John O'Neil, Dan Coughlan, Vincent Dooley, Horace Curnow, Supervisor E. B. Dudley, J. P. Coughlan, of San Francisco, assistant president of the P. G. & E. Among the former teachers of this school were: M. B. Brock of Grass Valley, the late A. D. Gassaway, Wm. Gray, the former Miss Emma Wolf and the former Miss Emma Flewelly. The former pupils each have a story to tell on the other. Here's one on George Calanan: George was delegated by the presiding pedagogue to go out and cut some good stout switches, these to be used on the school's bad boy.

George was reluctantly and very thoughtfully cutting the switches and along came Charlie Paine. In a most helpful mood Charlie began helping by stacking the switches as George cut them. George did'nt notice that as Charlie stacked each switch, he, with his sharp knife, cut rings around the switches, said circles not being visable in the green bark. George gathered up the switches and delivered them reluctantly to the teacher with a sigh that a difficult and delicate job was completed.

The teacher immediately began to lay them on the waiting culprit, when lo! the switches fell into a thousand pieces. Just what happened to our honorable city councilman you can imagine. It is said that Charlie Paine buried his nose in his geography at this point.

County Superintendent, Mrs. Ella Austin has established the present school, which is in the Cherokee district, as an emergency school, with Miss Olga Owens, Truckeef as teacher. Mrs. Austin is making every effort to give the best that California has to offer to every child in the county, so when ever possible establishes these emergency schools as the need arises.

RECEPTION FOR GRAMMAR SCHOOL TEACHERS FRIDAY

The P. T. A. is giving a reception and program Friday afternoon at the grammar school from three to four in honor of the teachers. Mrs. Leland Smith, president, will open the meeting and greet the members and visitors with a short talk, after which there will be a program. Mrs. O. McCraney will give a book revue; Mrs. Christian Anderson, chairman, will play two mandolin selections and there is to be another good number on the program. All parents and friends of the school are invited to attend the reception. Refreshments will be served at the close of the meeting.

MOTOR CARS CRASH ON GAULT BRIDGE

A traffic accident happened last night at nine o'clock on the Gault bridge, involving a 1927 Chevrolet coupe driven by Ray Wilde, Nevada City high school boy, and a car driven by a man from Lincoln.

Ray Wilde, with Dick Stevens as his sole companion in the car, was coming down the hill past Polglaze's. Just as he turned into the bridge his car's front end caught the other car's rear end, thus swinging the Lincoln car around so that it struck the western rail of the bridge, knocking the rather flimsy railing about a foot out of line.

The rear axle of the Lincoln car was broken, and the fenders bent on the other car.

No one was hurt. Officer W. C. Fouyer was at the scene of the accident shortly after it happened.

The front of the establishment has been completely changed. Mr. Janiss extends a hearty invitation to come in and visit his "My Place" and get acquainted. There will also be a lunch counter for his patrons service.

BLACK WIDOW BITES GIRL IN OAK VALLEY

CAMPTONVILLE, Sept. 17.—Babe Lynch, of Oak Valley, was bitten by a black widow spider on the back of the hand a few days ago, and is now recovering from the ordeal. She fortunately had serum and treatment on hand for this emergency and administered first aid immediately. She was quite sick for three days but now feels no bad effects from the bite.

Mr. and Mrs. James F. Dolan had as Sunday guests, Mr. and Mrs. T. DuHaone and son, Thomas Jr., of Sacramento.

RATTLER MAKES HAPPY HOME IN WOODSHED

Miss Peggy Hoffman, one of the P. G. & E., staff, declares that it has to be very chilly before she or her brother will go into the woodshed at their pretty home, 420 Marshall street, Grass Valley, to gather up a few sticks of wood to keep the home fires burning.

When they do go in, they stop, look and listen, prod around the woodpile with a long pole, then with a lightning dash, they seize three or four sticks and dash out again.

The reason is that a big rattle snake has made his happy home in the woodshed.

Nevada City is never troubled this way. But in Grass Valley rattlesnakes from time to time do try a come-back.

Once before, according to Peggy Hoffman, a wood dealer tossing in the winter supply, handed the family a baby rattler concealed in an armful of wood, and this infant reptile grew to be a big fellow with several rattles, before he finally disappeared.

The present tenant of the woodshed has never exhibited his rattlers but he does tune up along about noon. Any little disturbance during the warmer hours of the day and he lets off his alarm. In fact the family prefers that he do this and then they know whether it is safe to lay in a supply of wood against the chill of morning and evenings. Mrs. Lidyard, Miss Hoffman's mother, has seen the serpent's big ugly head, once or twice.

"Someday," says Miss Hoffman, "we are going to get that fellow."

ELKS WILL GIVE GARDEN PARTY

The affair will be open to the public, the proceeds will be turned over to the Elks Charity Fund. Besides the card games the guests will have the pleasure of enjoying the charming setting of the O'Neil gardens which are beautifully adapted to such an affair. The green lawns, shade trees and the gay flowers making a colorful background for the ladies.

It is requested that all who possibly can come to this informal meeting whether they plan to join or not.

Those who will assist in the organization of the high school P. T. A., this evening arrived this afternoon. They are: Mrs. Henry Webber, of Colfax, president of the Nevada-Placer P. T. A., and first vice president of the third district of California; Mrs. W. E. Wade, of Colfax, second vice president of the Nevada-Placer council; Mrs. R. M. Hughes a visitor from Colfax; Mrs. E. T. Stoll, of Sacramento, taking the place of Mrs. Bevil, of Sacramento, the state's third district organizer; and Mrs. W. H. Wilson, of Sacramento, chairman of the finance and budget committee of the third district.

MURCHIE MINE PRODUCING

Latest reports are that at present crews are taking out ore on all levels in the Murchie mine, east of Nevada City. A raise is about half completed between the 400 and 800 foot levels, in the company's plans for a new shaft. On the 1600 foot level, sinking is being done to prepare for a pump that will be used in the bottom of the new shaft. George Kervin is superintendent of the property.

IRATE MAN WITH RIFLE DISTURBS WILLOW VALLEY

The peace of Willow Valley, a fast growing suburb of Nevada City, where many miners employed in the Murchie mine make their homes, has been sadly disturbed of late by the rifle shots and threatening demeanor of William Ebaugh, and after Ebaugh had apparently subsided, by a gunsmith testing his workmanship at all hours on the ridge in the neighborhood of the Murchie.

First disturbance was Ebaugh, a man who wears long hair and whiskers, and for sometime has been the target of ill considered jest and teasing in the neighborhood. The culmination of this torment was a towering rage on the part of Ebaugh, who seized his rifle and took to the woods.

Sheriff Carter responded to a complaint late Thursday evening and with his deputies endeavored to apprehend Ebaugh. On Friday he was able to speak with the man, who was armed with both revolver and rifle, but found him in a defiant mood. Ebaugh complained bitterly of his treatment in the neighborhood and refused to surrender. Several deputies have been assisting in keeping watch for the man.

Ebaugh, a relative of the Sherm Heckers, resides with them. He has been an inmate of a state asylum.

Thursday night while Sheriff Carter and his deputies were looking for him, leaving their car by the roadside, a fisherman returning late, paused by the sheriff's car. Only a few paces away across the road was Ebaugh, who, apparently thinking the sheriff had returned, fired point blank, the bullet passing so close the fisherman felt the wind on his face.

A gas bomb, which Carter was finally able to explode close to Ebaugh, failed to have any effect. Ebaugh disappeared in the brush. The man is now believed to be suffering from some form of demeatia.

Ebaugh is reported to have suffered a blow upon the head when a boy from which he has never recovered.

MISS CATHERINE PARSONS BRIDE OF HAROLD BISHOP; ARCHDEACON OFFICIATES

Miss Catherine Davenport Parsons became the bride of Mr. Harold Whitney Bishop on Saturday September 8, at four p. m., at the Wyman Memorial church of St. Andrew in Marblehead, Massachusetts. Rev. Roy M. Grindy, rector of the church assisted Archdeacon Ernest J. Dunen, of Cambridge in the beautiful Episcopal marriage service.

The bride wore a gown of white lace and chiffon and a large white hat and carried a colonial boquet of white roses. The maid of honor, a cousin of the bride, Miss Beatrice Spring, of New York City, wore a white chiffon gown with green and brown figures and brown hat and slippers. The two bridesmaids, Miss Ruth Lindquist, of Longmeadow, Mass., and Miss Shirley Putnam, of Springfield, Mass., wore yellow organdie and carried colorful boquets in the pastel shades. The bridesmaids were classmates and sorority sisters of the bride at Massachusetts state college. Mr. Kenneth Kunear, a class mate of the groom at Massachusetts State acted as best man. Mr. Mr. Malcome Ober, of Marblehead, and Frank Bishop, of Springfield, were ushers.

LATE VICTOR GIANI IS BORNE TO REST

Funeral services were held for the late Victor Giani at the Holmes Funeral parlors at two o'clock this afternoon. Members of Corte Christopher, of which deceased was a member, attended. Interment was held at Pine Grove Cemetery.

Victorio was a native of Trontana, Italy, born in 1879. For the past 30 years he has been engaged as a miner in this district. Much of this time was spent in Sierra county. For the past three years he has been in very poor health. He is survived by three brothers, which are of this city, and two in Italy.

Deer Hunters Lucky On Sunday Opening

A group of Nevada City men with two friends from Livermore, five from San Rafael and two from Columbia, twenty two in all, went on a deer hunt in the Omega mine district. They left Nevada City about four o'clock Sunday morning. They had such good luck that some of them went back today for more deer.

They brought in three yesterday, one shot by Paul Baker, one by Paul Marsh and one by Carl Tobiassen.

The group of hunters form a party every year and go for a deer hunt. They always get their deer at about the same place.

A 160 pound four point buck was brought in by a party composed of Tony Fradelizio, Charles Bassadonne, and Denzie Rondoni from the Forest Hill section. To Mr. Fendelizio goes the honor of killing the buck.

Cecil Curtis, former Nevada City boy, killed a nice two point buck in the Drum district. He is expected in Nevada City today to visit with relatives.

A group of San Francisco hunters killed a three point buck at the Blue Lead, or old Malakoff diggings near Relief Hill.

E. W. Kendrick and Jim Stephens killed a two point buck in Sierra county yesterday which weighed 120 pounds.

WORK AT AIRPORT BEGINS UNDER SERA AFTER FIRST RAIN

At their adjourned meeting Thursday night, the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce acted upon some matters of importance to this district. An interesting report of Nevada county exhibit at the State Fair was made by W. H. Griffiths. The Nevada county exhibit was awarded five prizes. E. C. Uren announced that work on the airport will begin immediately after the first rain. Grading, clearing trees and smoothingthe north runway will be done by SERA labor. A representative of the Boeing Transport Company, who has made a careful survey of the field, said that when completed, the airport with its three way access will be suitable for the landing of the larger airplanes.

R. J. Bennetts, George Calanan and E. C. Uren were appointed to meet with the Grass Valley Chamber of Commerce to discuss ways to secure an appropriation from the state budget to improve the Yuba Pass highway.

LEASERS AT WORK ON HOGE 300 FOOT LEVEL

Eight of the old crew of the Hoge mine are to go into the mine as leasers in the next day or so. They will mine on the 300 foot level where high grade milling ore was opened up just about the time the mine was closed.

As soon as enough ore is mined it will be milled in the Hoge mill. The mine was closed recently for reorganization and as soon as plans are complete will reopen again.

ELKS SOON TO OPEN BOWLING TOURNEY

The Elks bowling alley is being put in condition for heavy use and the games will begin early in October. There were some lively tournaments last year and even a greater interest is anticipated for the fall tournament.

MILL WORKER CRAWLS INTO FURNACE TO DIE

Pasquale Skretti, mill worker in a Loyalton logging plant, crawled inside a blazing firebox in the lumber mill.

Identification of the remains was made by Skretti's shoes, which were sticking out the door. He was 45 years of age and is survived by two sons.

Sheriff W. B. Johnson and District Attorney McMahon, of Sierra county, made a thorough investigation of the affair. An inquest was called by the Sierra county coroner and the verdict of suicide returned. It was stated that there were no reasons to suspect foul play in connection with the death.

J. A. Casserly, of Alleghany, who is visiting at the home of Mrs. A. M. Lattin in Nevada City is awaiting the arrival of George Tchernghoneff of Los Angeles, who is to look over the Wyoming mine near Alleghany which is a property of Mr. Casserly.

LAVA CAP PLANS TUNNEL CENTRAL TO BANNER MINE

One hundred and twenty eight men are now employed by the Lava Cap mine it was learned today, a new peak in employment for this company. While the ore running $500, specimens of which formed part of Nevada county's exhibit at the State Fair, is found in lenses, characteristic of this district, Superintendent Otto E. Schiffner states that he believes the company now has sufficient ore in site to keep the mill running for a least a year.

Specimens that run high in values show around sixty ounces in silver and five in gold. Yesterday Mr. Schiffner exhibited a piece of ore in which there was a solid chunk of silver.

The vein which was first intersected on the 1000 foot level has been explored in both upper and lower levels.

The next important development planned by Mr. Schiffner is to follow this vein by tunnel from the Central shaft to the Banner, extracting ore as the work proceeds, and at the same time defining values and establishing ore reserves.

The mine is now on a self sustaining basis and has definitely passed from a prospective to a productive status.

The large proportion of silver found in Lava Cap ores, according to engineers familiar with this district establishes, is without precedent.

STRENGTH OF NEVADA HI GRIDDERS TESTED

Cashin's field was the scene of hard-fought grid battle between two sections of Nevada City high's doughty football players. Coach Barron called this test battle in order to find the strength of the individual players, and in order to prepare for the Oroville game to be held next Saturday.

It is impossible to give the line-up because it was frequently changed, but a list of those who played includes: Dick Bennett, Bill Bennett, Kenneth Younkin, Gerald Ralls, Don Williams, Fan Robbins, Phil Joyal, Jim Stephens, Bill Sharpe, Art Elliott, Mervin Doolittle, Morris Roberts, Carl Tobiassen, Merle Coulter, Fred Browning, Lacey Jones, Don Jones, Ray Wilde, Tod Bonner, Dick Stevens, Dick Marriott, Ray Steger.

The Black team, on which were most of last years varsity men, won easily 65-0.

Gordon Bennett and Co., of Wall Street, N. Y. Advertising rates are $30 per square of 16 lines per year. It carried four columns of classified ads. The first article was a Bible sketch of Matthew the Phophet; then came Theatrical Chit Chat, Late and Important News of Europe, comment on the President of the U. S. Prices were quoted in Shillings. The paper was hand set, solid, with small headlines and no mistakes.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Uren and guests, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Guenther, spent Sunday at Lake Tahoe.

COLORADO COMMENTS ON CALIFORNIA ELECTION

The Denver Post commented as follows in a recent issue regarding the primary election in California:

"Sinclair promises that if he is elected and IF he gets a legislature which will do as he wants, he will abolish poverty in California. This "IF" regarding the legislature is to be his alibi for failure if he is elected. When he fails to abolish poverty, he can blame the legislature.

"Any intelligent person who thinks, knows that no government can abolish poverty. But office seeking radicals figure that, as a drowning man will grasp at any straw, so discouraged, depressed and unemployed people will follow blindly the leadership of the candidate who promises them the most.

Sinclair's plan for the abolition of poverty is one of the most fantastic ever conceived. First he would have the state issue 30 million dollars of bonds to condemn untenanted agricultural lands and idle factories. These would be worked by the unemployed. A state money authority would be created to issue SCRIP TO PAY WORKERS FOR THEIR LABOR AND PRODUCTS. A state income tax on all incomes of $5,000 a year or over would be substituted for the present sales tax. Homes and farms worth less than $3,000 would be tax exempt. People would be asked to withdraw their savings from banks and turn them over to the state for the development of a state system of individual production. The state would take from the few and give to the many. But after the few had been stripped of their money, what would happen?

California could issue 330 million dollars of bonds to begin a system of state socialism. But whether purchasers could be found for those bonds is something different. Whether workers on state farms and in state factories would be satisfied to accept payment in scrip for their labor is another question. Sinclair says that when word goes out over the country what California is going to do to end poverty "there will be tens of thousands of able-bodied workers coming in our direction." He probably is right about that. If California wants to make itself the dumping ground for all the unemployed in the nation, forty-seven other states will breathe a sigh of relief.

Horace B. Dow, former justice of the peace and insurance agent of Nevada City, arrived Thursday after a three months sojourn in the northwest and Alaska. He has had a splendid vacation having gone as far north as Skagway, he also visited Ketchikan, Juneau, Wrangle, Sitka and Petersburg.

In Canada he spent some time in Vancouver and Victoria. On his return trip he landed in Seattle, Washington, and made a trip over Snoqualami Pass and visited Mount Ranier National Park.

Mr. Dow stated it was the first time in his life he had been able to catch all the fish he wanted. The The king and silver salmon were found all the way from Pugent Sount into Alaskan waters. King salmon weigh from 30 to 35 pounds and the silver 5 to 6 pounds.

BETWEEN THE LINES

By Alexander McNulty

A recent move, initiated principally by farm organization leaders and other men of prominence, urging that the President immediately put into effect a revaluation of gold, is interesting.

By act of Congress, the President may by decree still further decrease the gold content of the dollar—making the price of gold $41.34 instead of $35.00 as now obtains.

This move is strongly supported and; as the public becomes aware of it, will no doubt gain more support.

Since last year by raising the price of gold 69 per cent, the average price of basic commodities was raised 67 per cent while the cost of living rose but little.

Most experts agree that the scarcity of gold, at its old valuation, had much to do with the world wide business depresion. As long as gold is used as the standard of value—its price must be arbitrarily set by governments.

While the volume of goods and services available for purchase with any money backed by gold; is for all practical purposes unlimited—the volume of gold itself is very definitely limited. All argument to the contrary notwithstanding, experience has and does prove that by increasing the price of gold, i. e. making it more valuable, the price of other commodities rise in almost direct proportion.

This move to revalue gold is bound to be supported by the public as it begins to realize the potential benefit therefrom.

NEW POLITICAL PARTY

The American Liberty League, recently organized, will no doubt be a power to reckon with.

Outspokenly anti-Administration; insofar as New Deal policies having to do with regulation of industry, monetary policy and liberal social legislation; it is really, the nucleus of a new political party.

Its membership, consisting as it does of both Democrats and Republicans, erases still more the sharp lines that hitherto divided these parties but which, to such a great measure, have been obliterated since the inception of the New Deal.

Briefly, this is doubtless the birth of a new Conservative party, as opposed to the so-called New Deal or Liberal party. Such a realingnment is something to be desired. Heretofor, party lines and so-called 'regularity'—has beclouded many issues. Opinion is almost unanyimous that changing conditions have made many of the principals for which the Democratic and Republican parties formerly stood virtually obsolete. Moreover, a well organized Conservative party, having the prestige and weight to constructively criticize Liberal policies, could and would command far more power than the forces opposing Administration policies now enjoy.

The clearest illustration of the inadequacy of presnt Party politics is the paradox of Franklin Roosevelt and Alfred Smith, both candidates for the Democratic nomination for President—the former now champion of the New Deal or Liberal wing and the latter one of the organizers of this new Liberty League.

Let us hope for the early arrival of the time when political leaders may be identified as Liberal or Conservative and not be shackled by so-called regularity to obsolete party principals.

BOOM APPROACHING

Many trained observers already discern, or believe that they discern the signs of an approaching boom.

These opinions seem well founded on facts and are not put forth; as so many have been during the past several years for the purpose of bolstering public morale. To the contrary, they seem to sound a warning that we should proceed with caution.

The drought, with its subsequent diminishing of basic food supplies, would have, even unaided, brought a rise in prices. With the added impulse or inflation, primarily adopted, for the specific purpose of raising prices, the upward trend is already very definitely felt.

The index of commodity prices which is in the final analysis the truest barometer we have; now stands at its highest point since 1931. While it is true this is less than 70 per cent of the 1926 average: it is double its low points reached during both the years 1932 and 1933.

Another index equally dependable, is the farm income. This income, estimated to aggregate for this year 8-¼ billion dollars, will be the largest since 1930. This amounts to an increase of nearly 30 per cent over last year and amounts to nearly 70 per cent of the aggregate income for 1929.

The argument that this income is calculated in depreciated dollars loses force when consideration is taken of the fact that these dollars can and will pay debts contracted before inflation; and that accumulated debt is the great burden of agriculture.

"BOTTOMS UP" AT NEVADA THEATER

"Bottoms Up," which comes tonight and tomorrow at the Nevada Theater, is reported to be rich in comedy, romance and the glamour of Hollywood. Against this background, Buddy DeSylva has filmed a romantic story.

"Pat" Paterson, charming importation from the English stage, makes her American film debut in "Bottoms up." Playing the romantic leads opposite Miss Paterson are Spencer Tracy and John Boles. The comedy situations are contributed mainly by Herbert Mundin, Sid Silvers and Harry Green.

The picture contains four song numbers that promise to be hits. They are "Waiting at the Gate for Katy," "Turn on the Moon," "Little Did I Dream" and "I'm Throwing My Love Away." They are interwoven with an entertaining tale of three merry rogues and a girl with movie ambitions, who put on a swell front and crash the gates of a Hollywood studio.

Wednesday and Thursday brings "The Old Fashioned Way" to the Nevada Theater screen, starring W. C. Fields and Baby Leroy as his chief pet. W. C. Fields is the manager of a traveling troupe of actors whose chief occupation is to manage to keep about one jump ahead of the sheriff. Baby Leroy is continually giving Fields away at crucial moments and the play is guaranteed to keep the audience in continual laughter.
